Overview

Theme: Reflection and strategy building for inclusive leadership.

Audience: Adults or mature adolescents who work across difference.

Conceptual Objective: Participants will understand and appreciate the danger of having only one perspective and internalizing stereotypes. They will learn about two tools: the Danger of a Single Story video and the 1-2-4-All model for reflection.

Experiential Objective: Participants will self-reflect on their internalized stories about others, hear some of the stories others believe, and consider how these stories play out in their community work and leadership.

Facilitator Prep: Preview the video. Consider how single stories play out in your life, work, and other contexts. Why does this topic matter to you? Why might it be relevant to your specific group?

Related content: This workshop would be a good complement to the Public Narrative – Story of Self workshop.

Materials: Handout and video.

Procedure

INTRODUCTIONS (3 MIN)

- Presenters introduce themselves to the group, participants introduce themselves to a neighbor.

AGREEMENTS (5 MIN)

- Invite the group to suggest agreements to create a safe discussion environment. They may include:
  1. Stay engaged (Remove distractions.)
  2. Speak your truth (Talk about your own self, life, and story, rather than those of others.)
  3. Experience discomfort (Stay in the conversation, even when you are uncomfortable.)
  4. Expect/accept non-closure (Some things will remain unclear.)
  5. Ouch! (We may feel hurt by what we hear – please speak up when this happens.)

OPENING (2 MIN)

- In this TED talk, novelist Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie reflects on how she found her authentic cultural voice and warns that if we carry only a single story about another person or group, we risk a critical misunderstanding. She will take us on a journey of her own experiences, sharing not only “single stories” she had about others, but also stories she found others carried that affected her. After watching the video, we will engage you in a focused conversation about the video and the stories you carry and encounter too.

WATCH VIDEO (14 MIN)

- Watch from 0:00 to the 14:08 minute mark. Video is available at https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=D9Ihs241zeg.
“1-2-4-ALL” DISCUSSION MODEL (17 MIN)

Introduce the process: first participants reflect individually, then discuss in a pair, then in a group of four, then all. (1 min)

- Silent self-reflection by individuals on a shared challenge/question (2 min)
  a. What are “single-stories” others have believed about you?
  b. What are “single stories” you have believed about others?
- In pairs, share a story and generate ideas for addressing single stories. (4 min)
- Two pairs get together and develop ideas, noticing similarities and differences. (5 min)
- “What is one idea that stood out in your conversation?” Each small group shares one important idea with all. (5 min)

GROUP DEBRIEF (15 MIN)

- What is the “danger” in these single stories?
- How are these stories perpetuated?
- Who has the power to set the agenda and tell the story in the places where you work/serve/learn?
- What can you do to interrupt single stories?
  Going around the circle, ask each participant to share one commitment to action and/or one word reflecting how they are feeling now.

LEADERSHIP TOOL TAKEAWAYS (4 MIN)

Note the tools participants can re-use, as they wish in their own contexts:

- Share this video with others and host your own conversation.
- Use the agreements.
- Use 1-2-4-All method of reflection.
- Use this workshop facilitation template.

“The Danger of a Single Story” workshop was developed by Minnesota Campus Compact staff with Dave Ellis and Andrew Cseter, building on the TED talk of Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie. The agreements in this workshop have been adapted from Glen Singleton’s Courageous Conversations.

Creating Inclusive, Equitable Spaces: Five Strategies That Work

The Danger of a Single Story

BushCONNECT, May 9, 2016

The Danger of a Single Story (TED Talk: Chimamanda Adichie)

- danger of a single story
- an absence of a narrative (those who can’t tell their story)
- how to allow for new narratives
- power lies in who sets the agenda and who gets to tell the story
- if ALL we look for is poverty, crime, dehumanizing – then that’s ALL we see in our communities

Local Example – The Danger of Single Story.

Hosting a Community Dialogue

- Environment needs to be safe enough to create more safety and engagement
- Honoring the space to the story telling and the story teller
- Setting up agreements
  - said here, stays here (ask permission)
  - listen with attention & speak with intention
  - leadership is within the group
  - honor silence
  - honor the process
